Double Majors

Since multiple majors make you more attractive to employers, you can increase your career options when you complete two majors in four years. Learn more about double majors at: www.centre.edu/web/admission/majorsatcentre.html

Self-Designed Majors

Make your education uniquely yours by creating your own major program. It could include faculty-approved, self-designed courses and/or independent study. We encourage you to be creative and support your individuality, while providing the strong liberal arts background that prepares you for the real world.
