

MERIT SCHOLARSHIPS

AT CENTRE COLLEGE

CENTRE AWARDS A RANGE OF MERIT-BASED SCHOLARSHIPS TO RECOGNIZE STUDENTS WITH UNUSUALLY STRONG RECORDS OF ACADEMIC AND EXTRACURRICULAR ACHIEVEMENT.

Typically, over 50 percent of the students in our applicant pool will receive a merit scholarship. The table to the right lists available awards and levels.

Applying is simple. All applicants who meet the deadlines for Early Decision, Early Action, or Regular Decision admission are considered for merit awards. There are no additional applications to file. Early Action candidates who win awards are notified in late January. Winners in Regular Decision receive notice in mid-March. Early Decision candidates are notified before their commitment dates.

Evaluation is comprehensive. Centre does not use reductive formulas to evaluate candidates. There are no cut-offs. We carefully consider each applicant based on:

- Academic achievement (75 percent), judged by course selection, grades, rank in class (if available), test scores, essay, awards, recommendations, and honors.
- Extracurricular and personal accomplishments (25 percent), gauged by commitment, talent, and balance demonstrated in activities, and personal character as displayed through service, leadership, recommendations, essay, interview (recommended), and other personal contact.

Still competitive. Although academic credentials are not the only factors, successful merit scholarship candidates are usually above-average academically among our incoming first-year students. Here are a few characteristics of our most recent first-year students:

- ACT scores for the middle 50 percent range from 26 to 31.
- More than 60 percent of those with a class rank came from the top 10 percent of their high school class.
- More than 80 percent graduated from the top 25 percent. Strong candidates at all levels must show accomplishments beyond academic achievements.

Only one part of the picture. Merit scholarships are not need-based awards and are not the only kind of "gift aid" available. A merit scholarship is often part of a larger financial aid package that includes several sources of aid. For example, 65 percent of this year's incoming class qualified for need-based financial aid and received an average aid award of $27,200. In fact, 90 percent of students receive some combination of scholarship and/or financial aid.

State match scholarships. Centre will match state-sponsored merit scholarships for students from Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina, Tennessee, and West Virginia with equivalent college-sponsored gift aid. However, these awards may be replaced by other Centre merit scholarships with a higher value.

Special programs and outside scholarships. Students selected as Centre Fellows and/or National Merit Finalists are guaranteed at least a Centre Award in our Merit Scholarship Program. Scholarships sponsored by other agencies or community groups (including Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarships) will typically be added to your Centre merit scholarship.

FAQ ABOUT CENTRE'S SPECIAL SCHOLARSHIPS

May I apply for more than one Special Scholarship? Yes.

However, because these scholarships include on-going participation requirements, recipients will be limited to, at most, recognition in two programs.

Will I be considered for a Special Scholarship even if I am recognized with a Merit Scholarship? Yes. Faculty recommendations for Special Scholarships are made on the strength of your special scholarship application, interview or audition, and likely contribution to the community. NOTE: The New Horizons and Bonner Scholarships replace previously awarded general merit scholarships.

What are Special Scholarships worth? Language and Performing Arts scholarships range from $2,500 to $5,000 ($2,500 for students who are also recognized in our general merit scholarship program; $5,000 for students who are not recognized in our general merit scholarship program). The value of the New Horizons scholarship and Bonner scholarship supersedes the value of any scholarship a student receives as part of our general merit scholarship program. For students who also apply for financial aid, any special scholarship recognition will count toward meeting institutionally determined need.
